

LEOcoin Foundation sponsors Digital Currency day

On 16 January 2018 LEOcoin Foundation sponsored the first ever national digital currency day in the UK. The day consisted of media interviews and a landmark event held in the UK Houses of Parliament. The event was attended by dozens of MPs, Embassy Representatives, and industry experts.

Mihir Magudia Managing Director of the Digital Currency Foundation and Norman Lamb MP, chair of the Science and Technology Select Committee spoke of the importance of the digital currency market to both the UK and the Global economy.

Mihir Magudia

Norman Lamb MP

The event was a major opportunity for the Digital Currency Foundation to influence the future of policy in the UK, making sure that the forthcoming regulations and rules around digital currencies are informed by the views of the Digital Currency Foundation.